Talan Honan Theatre

The 300-seat Talan Honar theatre is an antique building in the heart of Tehran, the capital of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The theatre is mainly used for multipurpose applications, such as theatre, drama, live music and with 5.1 Dolby equipment and a 35mm cinema projector for screening movies. Owned by the Municipality of Tehran, its refurbishment was recently completed by Iran's Sazeman Farhangi Honary Shardari, which renovated the hall, as well as the sound reinforcement system and lighting fixtures. The project manager in charge was Masood Roostaei and the sound equipment was provided by Outline. A 3-channel main system was designed made up of Integra A, a 2-way 400W AES loudspeaker system for bi-amping, and a pair of Minisub Plus subwoofers [single 18" woofer). The system is tri-amped, through a pair of Genius 26 DSP loudspeaker management processors, while the surround speakers are 8 Omnia Plus full-range 2-way systems. All the loudspeakers are powered by Outline PWM amplifiers, which range from the 4-channel D4-2K for the surround cabinets to the 2-channel T4.5 for the main and sub systems. The Talar Honar Theatre is the second theatre fitted with Outline equipment in the last twelve months in Tehran, and others are due to be completed shortly. In fact, Tehran Municipal authorities greatly appreciated both the quality and reliability of the Outline products, as well as the technical support given by the company and its local distributor, Hashemi Trading, which has specified the Italian manufacturer's products in all its latest projects.
